

FIFTY SEEK CLEW TO BOMB SENDER

Detectives Scouring City for Man Who Caused Girl's Death.

POLICE SURE FOE TO FIRM IS GUILTY

Company Officials, However, Say
They Had No Enemies—Express Clerk in Search.

Nearly half a hundred detectives, under orders from Deputy Commissioner Dougherty, are searching the foreign quarters of the city for the man that delivered to the express office at No. 151 Bowery the bomb which, on Friday, killed young Miss Ida Anusewitz, a stenographer, in the offices of the O. K. Bottling Company, at No. 528 West 38th street. Working with them is Moe Andrews, the Adams Express clerk who received the package, and who keeps telling the detectives that he can "spot the man in a minute."

An autopsy was performed yesterday in the Bellevue Hospital morgue on the body of the girl. Last night her father, Nathan, who has a small jewelry store at No. 37 Clinton street, and one of her brothers claimed the body and had it brought to their home, at No. 153 Suffolk street. The funeral will be held this forenoon.

Commissioner Dougherty is still of the belief that the bomb was sent to the bottling concern by some one who believed himself injured by the business activities of William H. Callanan, the president. Mr. Callanan refuses to accept that theory. Yesterday he said that he had not the slightest notion why the bomb should be sent to him. All scout the idea that the bomb was intended for Miss Anusewitz. Another theory is that some one of the firm's debtors had intended it for Thomas McCabe, a big two-fisted man who used to try to collect the concern's bills. Mr. McCabe is now manager of the business, and it was he who stood near the unfortunate girl when the infernal machine exploded.

The rooms of the Anusewitz family were crowded all day with relatives and friends, who wept with the bereaved ones.

Mr. Anusewitz yesterday denied that his wife intended suing the bottling concern, as had been printed in a morning newspaper. "We want our Ida, not money," he said.

Most of yesterday the small office force of the bottling concern merely sat around in gloomy silence, occasionally glancing at the corner of the room where "Ida used to sit and laugh."

Dougherty is of the opinion that the bomb was taken to the express office by the man who made it. The writing on the wrapping, he said, showed that the author was a man of education.

Coroner's Physician Schultz, after completing the autopsy upon the body of the young woman, declared that the explosive must have been of great power. The girl's skull had been pierced in several places. Many pieces of steel and other material were removed from the flesh of the upper part of the body.

It was recalled yesterday that the bottling concern had been sued recently by a man who claimed that the explosion of a syphon had injured his eyesight. The man lost the suit.

LONG TRIP; SHORT TALK

Californian Comes Here to Make
8-Minute Speech to N. C. F.

Evincing the earnestness with which the workmen's compensation problem is being studied all over the country, W. J. French, of California, crossed the continent to deliver an eight-minute speech before the National Civic Federation at the Hotel Astor yesterday. That was all the time Chairman August Belmont could allow him, as he was holding all the other speakers to the same limit. Mr. French is connected with the Industrial Accident Board of San Francisco.

The joint commission of the National Civic Federation, which has been studying the effect of workmen's compensation laws in the various states, made its report through its chairman, Cyrus W. Phillips, and there was also discussion of the matter by Clark B. Firestone, president of the Firestone Bank, of Lisbon, Ohio; J. Walter Lord, chairman of the Maryland State Council and State Commission on Employers' Liability; Claude G. Taylor, president of the Michigan State Federation of Labor; General Lewis T. Bryant, Commissioner of Labor of New Jersey; John C. Alder, and Wallace D. Yapple, chairman of the Industrial Commission of Ohio.

Samuel Gompers said of the law passed Friday night in Albany: "Ours is one of the best codes of workmen's compensation laws in the country, and it is equally fair to the employer and the employed. It is generous and humane."

John Mitchell had good words for the new law. Mr. Phillips said the commission found both employers and employees anxious to aid it.

Since the adoption of a compensation act in New York, in 1909, these states have fallen into line: Arizona, California, Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Ohio, Oregon, Rhode Island, Texas, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

TEMPLE FOR ALL FAITHS

Readings from Holy Books
Planned in Former Stable.

Services, with readings from the Christian, Brahmin, Mahometan, Buddhist and Confucian holy books, with talks by followers of many religions, will be held every evening, beginning to-night, at the Daily Temple, No. 25 East 32d street. No admission will be charged and no collection taken.

The temple was formerly a stable. It has been remodelled into a two-story chapel, which seats 400 people. The lecture to-night will be on "The Messiah of the Past and the Messiah Who Is to Come," by Miss Elizabeth Knopf, who is in charge of the movement. Swami Bodhananda will read from Brahmin books of wisdom and Wevad Eyoub will represent Mahometanism.
